In my experience children learn best when they are having fun. Golf can be a difficult and frustrating game and we are trying to give each child a basic understanding of the fundamentals.

It is important for kids and more importantly the parents to not focus on results because if we did most people would not play the game.

More importantly golf is a game of a lifetime that can be enjoyed by the entire family. It promotes walking, friendly competition, sportsmanship and respect. These are the aspects of the game that we hope everyone learns to embrace and if they end up being the next Tiger or Annika then hopefully they will remember us fondly.
